

HEQ office premises

(Lyon, France)

Interior and exterior lighting design for the new office premises of the "Tectoniques architectes" company. Functional lighting depending on the natural light – subdued lighting – lighting design. The lighting of the inner patio extends to the meeting rooms on the ground floor and the first floor. The light shade changes according to the season and enlivens the view from the working desks. The lighting of the working spaces depends on the natural light available and can also be completely adjusted by everyone.
