

Permanent lighting of a historic monument of great heritage value

(Paris, France)

We have designed the interior spaces of the column, which will soon be open to the public after a final phase of marble restoration. A large golden ring encircles the peristyle; it is equipped with tiny projectors focused on the marbles being restored. The cellars are lit in a sober and discreet way. The heart of the bronze column is decorated with a play of light and shade slightly tinged with green.

contracting authority
Centre des Monuments
Nationaux
lighting designer
les éclaireurs
engineering
Inex

budget
NC
completion
2018